TOM CLANCY'S RAINBOW SIX | SIEGE

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

COSPLAY GUIDE

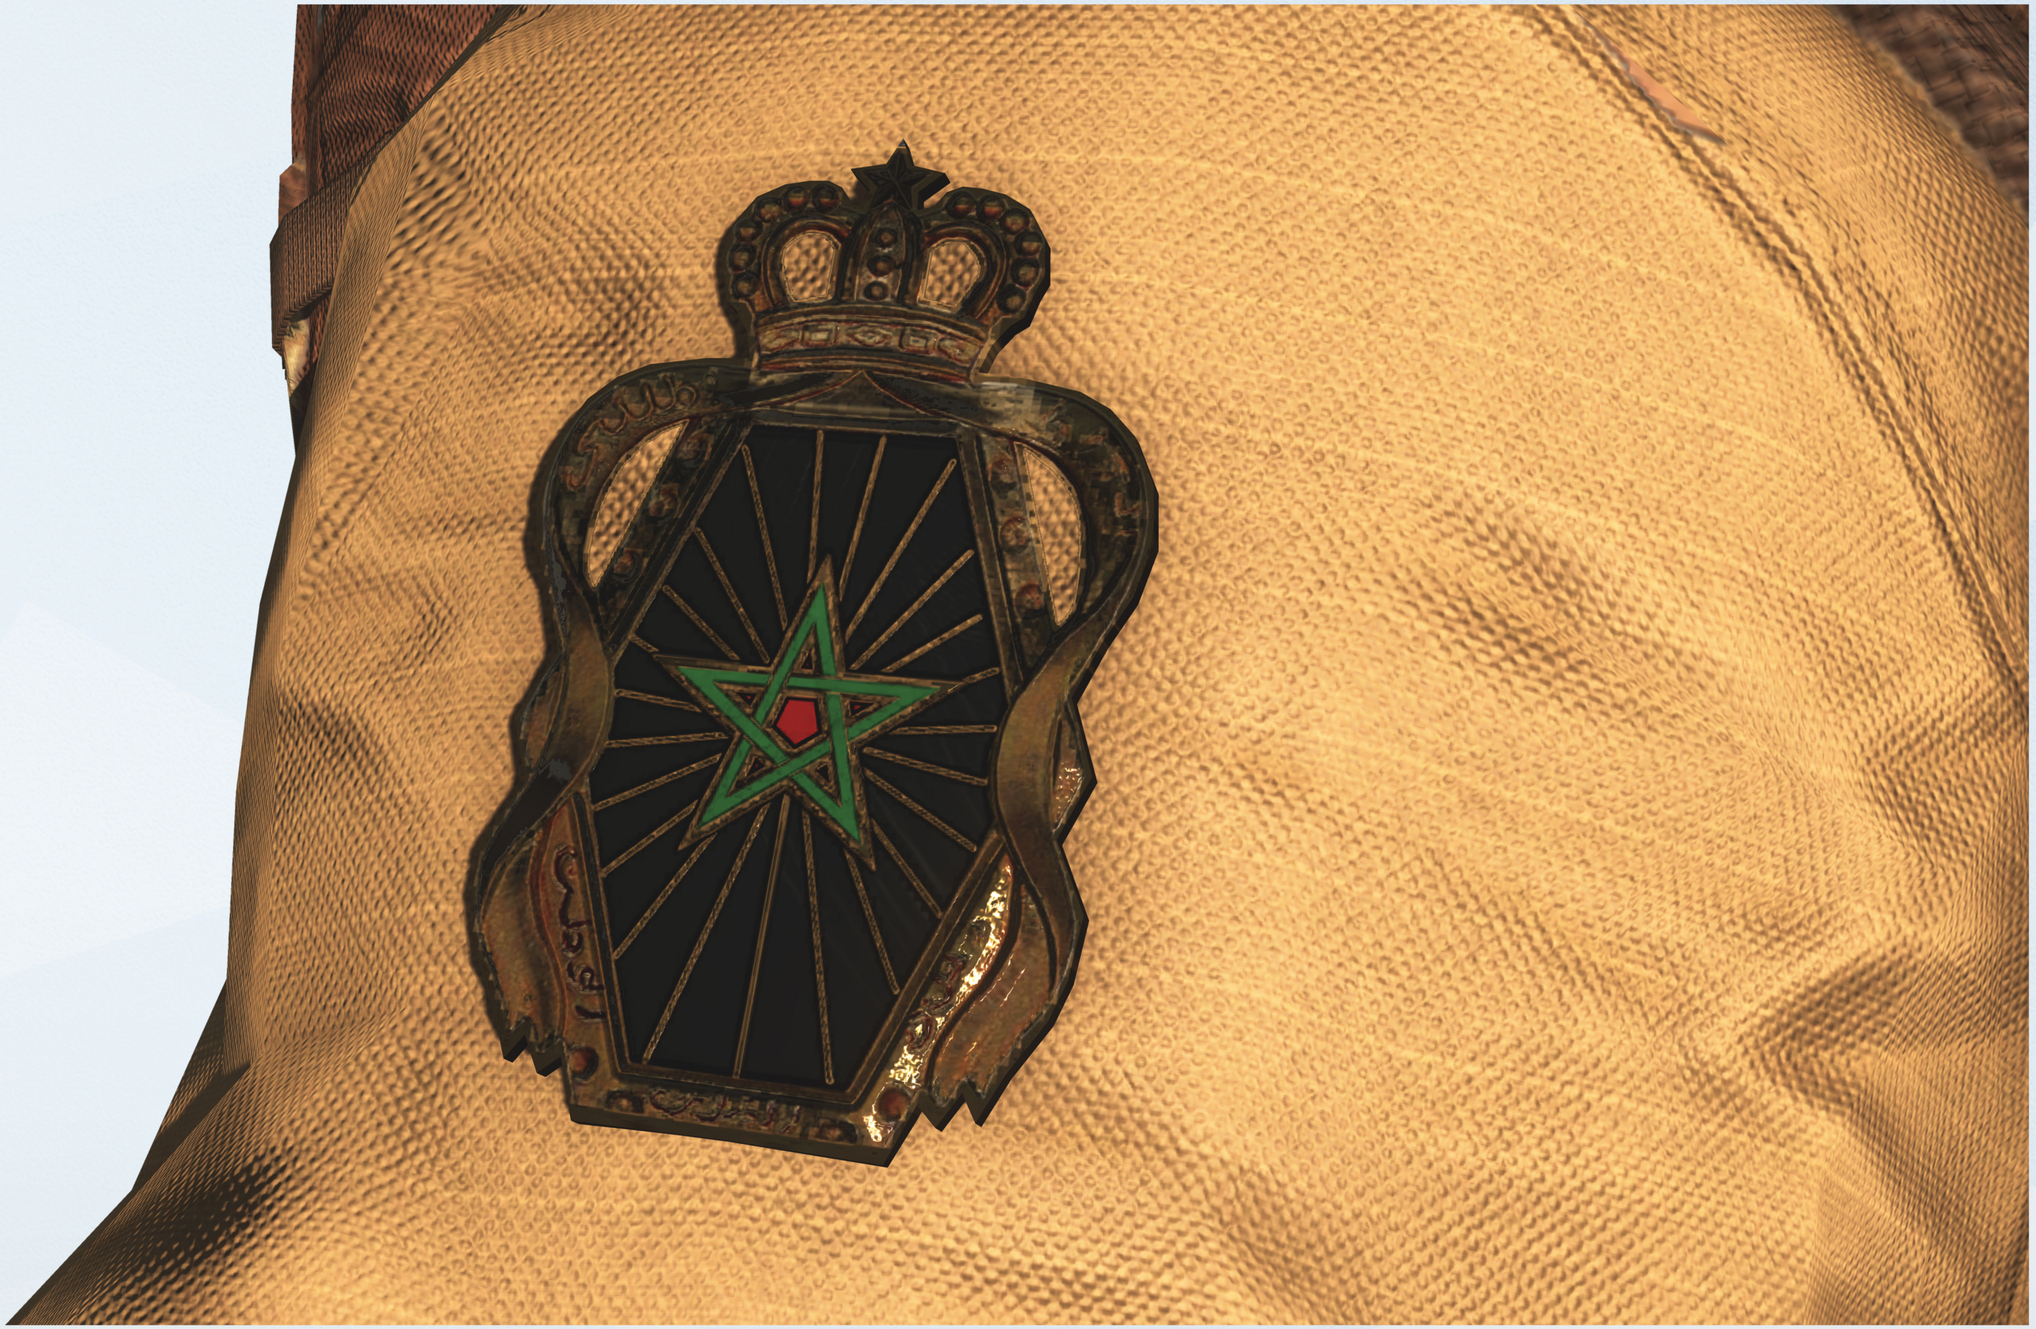

NOMAD

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

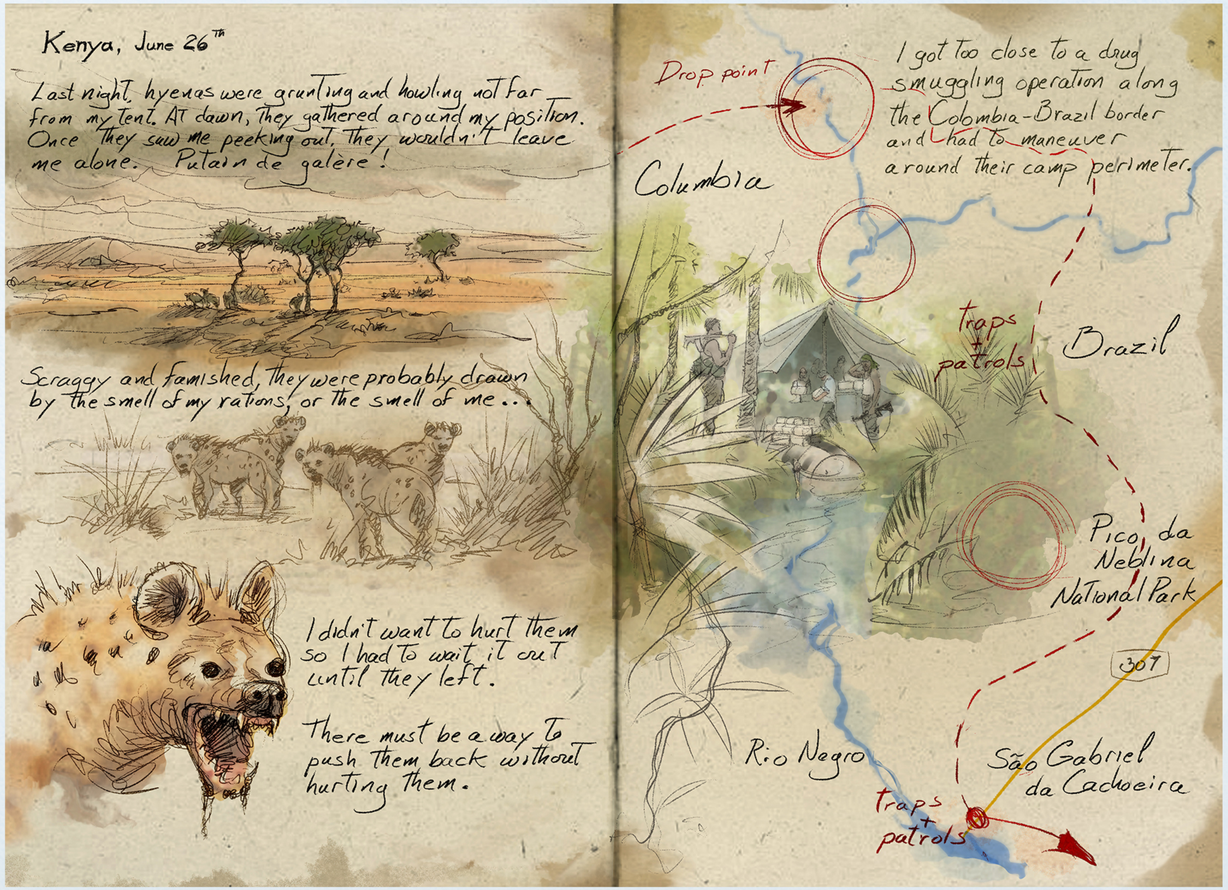

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

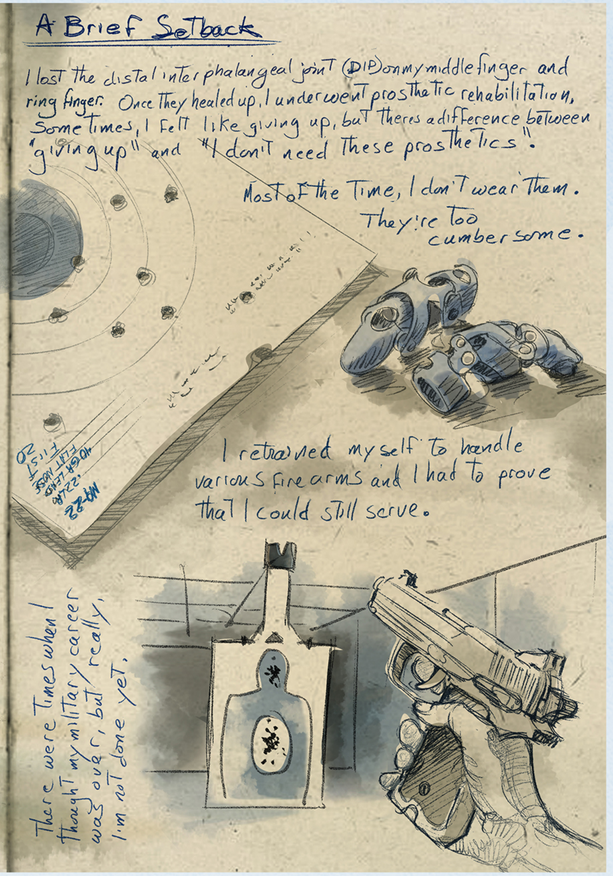

Kenya, June 26th
Last night, hyenas were grunting and howling not far from my tent. At dawn, they gathered around my position. Once they saw me peeking out, they wouldn't leave me alone. Putain de galère!
Scraggy and famished, they were probably drawn by the smell of my rations, or the smell of me...
I didn't want to hurt them so I had to wait it out until they left.
There must be a way to push them back without hurting them.
Drop point
I got too close to a drug smuggling operation along the Colombia-Brazil border and had to maneuver around their camp perimeter.
Columbia
Traps + patrols
Brazil
Pico da Neblina National Park
307
Rio Negro
São Gabriel da Cachoeira
Traps + patrols

Memories of Siberia
Journey along the Arctic Circle
6 Months in and I'm up against glacial winds of 248km/h. It's a never ending storm.
J'suis vraiment dans le petrin.
"-72°C"
My left boot got undone... I could either remove all my glove layers to fix my boot, or let the biting cold seep through all my socks.
I chose to save my feet...
the cold bit off my fingertips
In retrospect, my trip to Mount Logan wasn't so bad after all.

A Brief Setback
I lost the distal interphalangeal joint (DIP) on my middle finger and ring finger. Once they healed up, I underwent prosthetic rehabilitation. Sometimes, I felt like giving up, but there's a difference between "giving up" and "I don't need these prosthetics".
Most of the time, I don't wear them. They're too cumbersome.
I retrained myself to handle various firearms and I had to prove that I could still serve.
There were times when I thought my military career was over, but really, I'm not done yet.

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

COSPLAY GUIDE

NOMAD

#B49A53

#D5A977

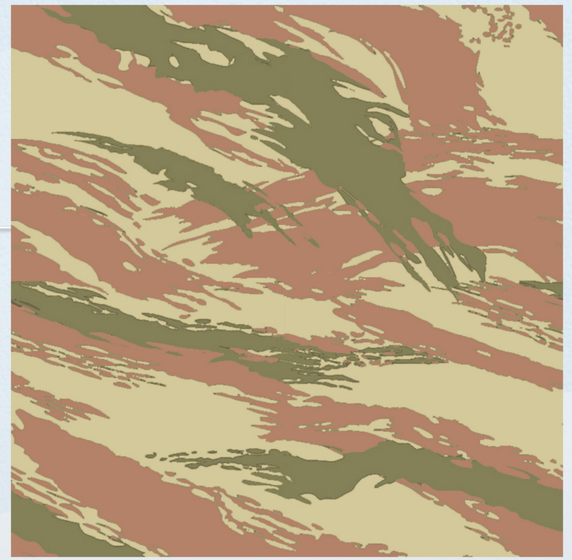

#8A743D

#726151

#9D5645

#8A493B

#AE9A8A

#B48268
#D4C99A

#68563C

TOM CLANCY'S
RAINBOW SIX | SIEGE
SHARE YOUR COSPLAY WITH US
#R6COMMUNITY